1. Chapter 1

This chapter takes place during the season 5 finale of Star Wars The Clone Wars. Please note this will just focus on this particular scene and the next chapters will be longer. Enjoy!

POV: Anakin Skywalker

"Ahsoka, I am so sorry, about everything."

I looked at my Padawan who had just suffered immensely from what happened. Her best friend betrayed her, the Council turned their backs on her, and almost everyone gave up on her. Everyone...except for me.

"You have our most humble apologies little Soka." Master Plo said.
"The Council was wrong to accuse you."

I was tempted to ask him why he abandoned her. She thought of him as a father figure, but he had abandoned her in her time of need. I, on the other hand, never lost faith in her. I believed she didn't bomb the Temple or killed Letta Turmond.

"You have shown shown such great strength and resilience in your struggle to prove your innocence." Master Tiin replied.

_She was innocent from the beginning. If the Council would have just listened to her, we wouldn't have had to go through this ordeal in the first place._

"This is the true side of a Jedi Knight." Master Mundi said.

I always believed Ahsoka was capable of being a Jedi Knight. I never looked down on her, I always treated her more than just my Padawan. I...I loved her to death. I would die if it meant she could live.

"This was actually, your great trial. Now we see that." Master Windi began. "We understand that the Force works in mysterious ways. And because of this trial, you have become a greater Jedi than you would have otherwise."

_What!? How could you say that! This was not just another trial for her, she could have died if I couldn't prove her innocence to everyone. _

"Back into the Order, you may come." I was angry at what the Council was doing. They were flattering and congratulating her just so they could convince her to come back. I stepped in front of the Council members and faced Ahsoka.

"They're asking you back Ahsoka." I reached behind me and grabbed her Padawan braid. "I'm asking you back."

For a moment there was silence. Her hand reached for her braid and I thought of all the things we could do. We could go on missions together, we could train together, and I might reveal my feelings when the time was right.

But all my wishes were rejected when Ahsoka closed my hand. I was surprised and Ahsoka had tears forming in her eyes as her mouth quivered.

"I'm sorry Master, but I'm not coming back." She turned her back to us and left the Council Chambers. I stood there thinking back to what just happened. Ahsoka had left, the one person I wake up every morning was now gone. I swear the Council was going to pay for this, but when I finally snapped out of my thoughts, I ran out and looked for her.

I sensed Ahsoka's presence slowly fading and I knew I had to find her or lose her forever. I asked many Jedi desperately if they had seen her and one said she was seen leaving the Temple.

I ran as fast as I could outside and saw Ahsoka almost arriving at the stairs leading into the streets of Coruscant.

"Ahsoka wait!" I yelled, but she continued walking away. "Ahsoka, I need to talk to you." She finally stopped and I caught up to her.

"Why are you doing this?" I asked her.

"The Council didn't trust me, so how can I trust myself."

"What about me, I believed in you, I stood by you." She finally faced me properly.

"I know you believe in me Anakin, and I'm grateful for that. But I can't stay here any longer. Not now." She turned her back to me which caused my heart to break.

"I don't want you to leave Ahsoka." I begged.

"And why is that." I looked at myself and realized this was the time to tell her. If I didn't, I would lose the one person I couldn't live without.

"Because Ahsoka, I...Loveâ€|You." To prove what I was saying, I placed my lips on hers and stood there with my eyes closed. I didn't care who saw us now, I had to show Ahsoka I was telling the truth. I enjoyed the seconds that passed because this might be the only time I could kiss her.

After a few seconds, I pulled back, still afraid of her expressions. I slowly opened one eye and saw her with a small smile forming.

POV: Ahsoka Tano

My Master had just admitted that he loves me. I didn't know what to say, I had loved him ever since I was assigned his Padawan three years ago. And now, I was leaving the only person I truly loved.

"Anakin...I love you too, but we can't do this. You're a Jedi and it wouldn't work out between us." Tears were now forming in my eyes. "It would be better if you just forget about me."

"I can't do that Ahsoka." He responded. "I don't care what happens to me, I only want you to be happy."

"The Jedi Order is your life. You can't just throw it away like that. I know you feel betrayed, but know that I'll always be with you no matter what happens. We CAN make this work for us, we just have to keep it a secret from the Council."

"We'll be living a lie. One that we couldn't keep even if we wanted to. I couldn't do that. Could you, Anakin? Could you live like that?"

"No, you're right." He stood up, but his hands still grabbed mine. "It would only destroy us in the end. But I'm still asking you, please come back. Not as my lover, but as my Padawan."

I felt through the Force that he still loved me. I didn't know if I could ignore my feelings for him, but I was going to try.

"Ok Master, I'll stay with you." He smiled and his face got closer and closer to mine until I took a few steps back. When he realized what he was doing, he pulled back.

"I'm sorry Ahsoka, it's just going to take some time for me to think of you as just my Padawan. I'll always love you, but I'll do my best to put my feelings aside."

"I know what you mean Master. I just want you to know that this is going to be just as difficult for me as it is for you." He finally released my hand and we began walking back to the Council Chambers where everyone remained.

"Masters, I've changed my mind. I would like to come back, but only if I could complete my training with Master Skywalker." They were shocked at my request, but agreed to it nonetheless.

Anakin was asked to leave while I stayed to listen to their conversation. I watched as Anakin left with a frown on his face and it made me wonder.

Maybe there is a way for me and Anakin to be together...

Hope you enjoyed the first chapter. And like I said before, the next chapters will be longer with more details.

2. Chapter 2

Requested: LordAlex99

Welcome to chapter two of Everlasting Love. I hope you will enjoy this chapter. Enjoy

POV: Ahsoka Tano

As soon as the conversation with the Council was done, I decided to give myself time to think. I began walking around the Temple, but I couldn't stop thinking about Anakin. I wanted nothing more than to be with him right now, but I couldn't if I valued the Jedi Order.

Even so, I could still feel his lips kissing mine from earlier. I touched my lips with my fingers and I pictured the moment we shared. His face leaned down on mine and our lips made contact. Anakin had his eyes closed, but a smile was formed from my lips when he pulled back.

This was the first guy I loved, the first guy I dreamed of spending the rest of my years with. Ever since I became his Padawan three years ago, we had gotten to know each other at a deeper level. We formed a bond so strong that we could hear each other's thoughts. I forced myself to keep my thoughts for him hidden, but now I knew he did too.

We exchanged the three words that I will value the rest of my life, I love you. At that moment, I felt selfish about what I was doing. I was leaving the only life I knew behind, I wasn't even sure where I would go. However, because of Anakin, he brought me back to the place we called home.

For a second, I thought he was lying when he told me he loved me. I tried making him forget about me, but he answered by saying he couldn't do that. When he offered me that we keep our love a secret from the Council, I declined. Not because I didn't love him, but because our love would eventually be the end of us. The secret would be too big to hide and it would destroy us from the inside.

Even after we agreed to turn our backs on our feelings, Anakin still tried to convince me to stay. Even if we would just be Master and Padawan and nothing more. Anakin was the only reason I stayed a Jedi,

I don't know what I would've done if he hadn't admitted his feelings for me.

By the time I was done thinking, it was already night time outside so I made my way to the dorm Anakin and I shared. I walked in to see Anakin on his bed sleeping. I walked towards him and put my hand on his head. I let myself go into his dream and saw him dreaming about us.

POV: Anakin Skywalker

After I left the Council Chambers, I made my way back to the dorm. I tried to clear my mind of Ahsoka, but it wasn't working out so good. After what I just said to her, I don't think I'll be able to ignore my feelings for her.

Everything about her was perfect. She actually reminded me a lot about myself. Everytime I looked at her, I would get a strange feeling and I later realized it was love. I wanted nothing more than to be with her, but we couldn't. I had to get used to the idea of her just being my apprentice and nothing more.

I finally arrived at the dorm and laid down on bed. I stared at Ahsoka's side of the room before closing my eyes.

Dream\Visionâ€|

_When I opened my eyes, I saw Ahsoka and me at a diner. I could tell by the outside surroundings that we weren't on Coruscant anymore. I was confused if this was a dream or a vision from the future. The next thing we did surprised me, Ahsoka and I kissed. It wasn't a cheek kiss, it was full on mouth to mouth. _

"_Anakin, I love you and I don't care if we're Jedi, I want you." She said once she pulled back._

"_I love you too Snips, but are you sure you want to do this?" I asked her. "We won't be able to turn back if we decide to be lovers. If the Council finds out about us, the consequences will be severe. We'll probably end up getting expelled from the Order._

"_I don't care what the Council says or does, I'll always be with you Anakin. I love you more than being a Jedi." We were about to lean into a kiss, but the whole room shook and everything crumbled and everything past me, almost like I was going forward time. _

_Once everything came together, I saw myself on a lava planet with my legs and arms cut off. I looked around my surroundings, but I couldn't see anyone in sight. I thought I was going to die here, but then two clone troopers and a hooded figure arrived and loaded me on a gurney. _

Afterwards, I saw my burned body on a metal table. There were multiple droids removing the clothes that were burned into my body. They then began putting me in a dark suit which looked horrifying. I heard mechanical breathing and the only thing I was thinking at that moment was Ahsoka.

_Once again, everything disappeared and formed something else. This time, I saw many images cross my mind. I saw the Jedi Temple on fire, I saw a huge space station, I saw a planet being destroyed, but the thing that scared me was that I saw Ahsoka getting shot and killed by her clone squadron._

End of Dream\Vision

"NOOOOOO!" I screamed after I saw Ahsoka getting killed by her clone troopers. I got into a sitting position rather quickly and knocked my head on Ahsoka's face. I fell back on my bed, and realized I was sweating like crazy.

"Master? Are you alright? What did you see?" She kept asking me the same thing over and over, but I couldn't tell her what I saw. We agreed to put our feelings aside and I was willing to try. Even though it meant we couldn't be together.

"It's nothing Ahsoka. Don't worry about it."

"How could I not worry? Your scream scared me to death and you're sweating like crazy. What did you see?"

"I...I can't tell you Ahsoka." I felt horrible for saying that, but I had too.

"Why not?" She asked surprisingly.

"Because it would make things worse for us okay!" I almost shouted. "I still love you Ahsoka, but I know we agreed to force our feelings aside." She was quiet for a few minutes as I waited for a response from her.

POV: Ahsoka Tano

After what Anakin just said, I realized I couldn't deny my feelings anymore. If he felt the same way about me, I would break my oath as a Jedi.

"Anakin...How much do you love me?" I asked him.

"Ahsoka, I love you more than life itself. I would give anything to see you smile every day." I reminded quiet and thought over what he said. My long silence began to worry him.

"I can't do this anymore Anakin." I said.

"Do what Ahsoka?"

"I can't go on like this. Anakin, I want us to be together." To show him I was telling the truth, I sat on his bed and kissed his lips for the second time. I kept my lips connected on his for the longest time. All he did was stare at me until I pulled back. "If you feel the same way I do, tell me."

"I do Ahsoka!" He said excitedly. "But I thought we agreed that this would destroy us in the end?"

"I don't care anymore Anakin." He scooted over on the bed to give me room to lay down. "I'll stay with you until the end comes. I love you Anakin."

"I love you too Ahsoka. You don't know how happy I am right now." I laid on his bed and traced his face with my fingers.

"Knowing you, you're probably thinking of things for us to do tomorrow aren't you?" He smiled before leaning forward to kiss my forehead.

"You'll see tomorrow my Love."

I loved it when he called me Love. We weren't Padawan and Master anymore, now we were boyfriend and girlfriend. Eventually, I cuddled next to him and rubbed face on his chest. I purred into his chest until we fell asleep.

The next dayâ€¦|

POV: Anakin Skywalker

I woke up the next day feeling like I had the best dream of my life. I shifted on the bed a bit, but my body was being held by two orange hands. I looked to my side and smiled as I realized my dream had actually happened. Ahsoka and I admitted our love and we were now together.

I stroke her rear lek, making her moan in her sleep. Her grip on me tighten until she opened her beautiful blue eyes.

"Hello Master. Why are you on my bed?" I laughed as I realized she probably thought she dreamt last night's events.

"Ahsoka, YOU are on MY bed. Don't you remember what happened last night?" She yawned and closed her eyes to focus on last night. When she opened her eyes, I pushed my lips on hers. When I pulled back, she had a smile on her mouth.

"Get dressed Snips, I'm taking you off world for breakfast."

"That's very sweet of you Skyguy. Where are we going?" She asked as she grabbed a new pair of clothes and we changed in front of each other. I turned around while she changed, but I did take a peek when she wasn't looking. _Nice!_

"It's a secret Ahsoka. Trust me, you are going to love it." Once we were done changing, we walked to the hangar and took a ship to Naboo.

Nabooâ€¦|

POV: Ahsoka Tano

Anakin and I were now on Naboo. He was covering my eyes so I couldn't see where he was taking me. "Anakin, can I look now?"

"Not yet Ahsoka." He said. "Just keep walking forward and I'll guide you to the restaurant."

It's been three hours since we left Coruscant. I was surprised no Jedi saw us leave this morning. Usually, many Jedi are awake early in the morning. Anyways, halfway to Naboo, my stomach was growling from hunger.

"Anakin." I whinned. "I'm hungry, can't we just eat now." We walked a few more seconds before he removed his hands from my eyes.

The restaurant definitely looked the best from any i've seen on Coruscant. It was however, reserved only and I didn't think Anakin could get a table overnight. Anyways, we walked in only to be stopped by a human male.

"Names please." The man said.

"Ahsoka Tano." I responded.

"Anakin Skywalker." Anakin said. The man checked his HoloPad, but couldn't find our names. Which wasn't a surprise for me.

"I'm sorry sir and madam, but it seems you are not on the list. I must ask you make a reservation before coming here." I was about to run back and leave, when Anakin used the Force on the man.

"We do not need a reservation." Anakin said.

"You do not need a reservation." The man repeated.

"We have a free table at the back."

"We have a free table at the back" The man said before leading us to an empty table.

"Wow Ani, I can't believe you did that!"

"What? I can't treat my girlfriend to a nice dinner." I laughed before leaning over to the table and kissing his lips.

"Anakin, I love you, and I don't care if we're Jedi. I only want you."

"I love you too Snips, but are you sure you want to do this?" He asked me. "We won't be able to turn back if we decide to be lovers. If the Council finds out about us, the consequences will be severe. We'll probably end up getting expelled from the Order."

"I don't care what the Council says or does, I'll always be with you Anakin. I love you more than being a Jedi." I leaned over to his face where I gave him a kiss with as much love as I could possibly give. Afterwards, a waiter came to our table and we ordered our food. Especially me who was extremely hungry.

Here is the next chapter. Leave a review and tell me what you think. Thanks again for your support.
